Iphones are a great addition to the ever growing world of gadgets with hundreds of cool downloadable as well as built-in applications. Naturally, a state-of-the-art device like this doesnâ€™t come cheap. Therefore one should be that much more careful about protecting the phone from external impact like scratches and collisions. Multi-functional iphone cases are the perfect accessories for iphoneaccessories for iphone. Check out these five unique cases to decide which one youâ€™ll grab yourself!

With growing fitness awareness, more and more people are now hitting the gym. It makes sense therefore to have a case that allows you to carry your iphone as you work out. Workout cases are convenient iphone accessories that can be strapped onto your arm or wrist as you sweat it out on the treadmill.

For heavy users or those who use their phones very actively battery charging cases are the perfect iphone accessories. These cases ensure that the device never runs out of steam even when the user is on the move. Battery charging cases with their built-in battery sockets protect the phone from impact and at the same time keep it charged.

There are even iphone accessoriesiphone accessories designed especially for environmentalists and nature lovers. Eco-friendly cases made from recyclable material means that users can be rest assured of doing their bit for a greener Earth.

What makes iphone cases such great accessories is that they can be greatly customized as per the userâ€™s tastes. So if you want a slightly more feminine touch to your case, opt for pouches that come with string or leather attachments to hang inside your purse or bag. Pouches are great phone storage ideas even for the gents. You can do away with the strings and just go for a plain all- leather variety. It is a great alternative for the more solid appearance of the traditional case and works just as well.
