Article published on June 17th 2012 | Computer

Why are CCTV cameras still so important?

In previous years CCTV cameras were a very hit and miss affair. First of all, the cameras themselves were very bulky and obvious to any unwanted intruders or criminals. Videotape could prove to be very expensive and you would need a lot of space to store the tapes if you wanted to keep your footage for any length of time. Also the general quality of the image was never that great, so that if the criminal was caught on tape you often couldnâ€™t make out any distinguishing features. In the digital age all of those problems have disappeared with CCTV cameras. The picture is much better; cameras can now be so tiny, that anyone caught on camera will never know they are being filmed.

What sorts of people use CCTV cameras?

All sorts of businesses and individuals use CCTV cameras these days. You can never be too careful when it comes to criminals whether you own a house or a hospital, you will always be vulnerable to criminals. With the help of CCTV cameras thousands of criminals are caught every year. Also if criminals know you have CCTV they are far less likely to commit any crimes in the first place especially if they donâ€™t know where all the cameras are. Obviously they should if possible be part of a wider security system but they are probably one of the most important aspects of it as a whole.

Where is a good company to go to for CCTV cameras?

There are a few good places that you can go to for CCTV cameras; however there is one that stands head and shoulders above its competitors and is worth a special mention as a result. The name of the company is Privilox CCTV. They have an excellent website at www.priviloxcctv.co.za, where you can find out all about them and what they have to offer. In terms of quality equipment, expertise and value for money, they are hard to beat, so if you do need CCTV cameras, they should be the first company that you try.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/computer-articles/cctv-cameras-have-evolved-enormously-in-the-last-few-years.htm - Article Side

Mary Porter - About Author:
CCTV Cameras and CCTV Systems available to buy from priviloxcctv.co.za. Our company is a leading local supplier of high quality security systems including CCTVâ€“ Visit us today for more information!

Article Keywords:
CCTV Cameras,CCTV Systems

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!