A computer is a machine and a life saver. Imagine living without a computer. Imagine living without the Google. Imagine living without email. Life today starts and ends with a computer. Any task, any assignment, any job be it work or school related is performed with the help of a computer. Everyone in the world now knows how to operate a computer. And, according to statistics, 60% of the people in the world own their own computers or laptops.

Computers are indispensable in todayâ€™s age and time. Everything we do is through a computer. We work, play, communicate, make friends and maintain relationships through the computer. It has almost become a substitute for our own self. Because a computer is so essential in our own life and in everyone elseâ€™s as well, it is important that we make our computer our own. Simply buying a computer does not make it yours. It is truly yours only when it shows some mark of yours.

Personalizing your laptop is very important. It is your constant companion at work, in school and at home. Everyone who meets you also sees your computer and through your computer makes a conclusion about you. Hence, your computer also affects the way people perceive you as a person. Your computer is a reflection of you. It is an extension of your creativity, your innovation and your involvement with everything in your life.

A person who has a personalized laptop will obviously be perceived as someone who has more time and is involved with every aspect of his life. Another person, whose laptop looks exactly like the one in the store, will be perceived as someone who is not creative and has no time. Hence, personalizing your computer or laptop is very important.

Contrary to popular belief, personalizing your laptop does not mean buying expensive skins, sleeves and adhesive stickers. Customizing your laptop may simply imply putting up a wallpaper for desktop that you actually like instead of the automatic one that came with the laptop.

You can even opt for a desktop clock to keep a professional look on your laptop background. You can download clocks in different colors and shapes and place them on your desktop for a different look. It will help you keep track of the time as well as look stylish. This way, you can work efficiently and stylishly at the same time.

Desktop backgrounds are important for they are visible to you throughout the day. When you see something constantly, it obviously has an effect on you. So if you have a wallpaper for desktop in a bright, happy color, it will help you remain energetic and up beat the entire day. Similarly if you put up a desktop background with a nice motivational quote, it will motivate you and help you get through the day. You donâ€™t have to purchase skins in different colors to make your computer attractive. Putting up a great wallpaper will bring about positive energy and that will get translated in everything you do.
