Most of the service providers in the much competitive field of HR Management have now attained the much awaited automatic functionality thanks to the employee onboarding solutions. The large players in this field who are the market leaders also had been talking about these solutions for quite a long time, but by now only they could introduce the same as an affordable package of services to their customers. The HR Service providers are able to augment their business and achieve much better financial results as a result of introduction of the automated solutions that had improved their efficiency. The customers of these companies are now able to reap the benefits of federal tax credits as a direct advantage of the WOTC Processing that is offered by the service providers. The client companies are able to save substantial amounts every year which they were paying as service charges to the tax credit processor. Tedious and lengthy paperwork has been completely abolished in the entire system. Now the service providers have a much simplified new hire staffing by which they are able to make their fixed terms and conditions as part of the electronically attested new hire retail.

Even the companies that belong to the small scale sector can afford the employee onboarding solutions as well as the new hire retail. Consequently thousands of business enterprises, retailing companies, recruiting agencies and restaurants are making use of these solutions. The WOTC Processing enables the users to get the benefits very easily. All details about the newly appointed employees are recorded online and the relevant data is fed into the payroll system as well. This enables the management to easily access the employees' Forms at any time. The Forms are for the eligible employees only. The companies seek the support of the service providers to follow up and avail the credits.

The companies are able to decide the Form requirements of the newly hired employees during a simple online interview. The service providers take care of storage of all data as well as maintenance of software so that the users are relieved of the burden. The candidates are required to answer the interactive questions during the online interview and are not required to fill up data sheets. The team leaders and HR officials can easily assess the performance of each staff through the real-time dash boards that are provided to ensure accountability as well as visibility. The implementation of the system is not at all expensive since it does not require any new hardware or software.
