Article published on December 5th 2011 | Customer Service

The advancement of technology, dropping prices of camera, and availability of Photoshop-like applications have made many people delusional. Now every Joe standing on the corner of a street thinks he is a photographer. But I'm sure you're not going to invite any of them instead of contemporary wedding photography Leeds expert to capture the most important day of your life.

In fact, pointing a camera to one direction and clicking whatever comes in the frame is one thing, and composing a frame for that perfect snap is altogether different thing, particularly when a photographer does not get more than couple of fractions seconds to compose the frame, on a wedding day. An immature may point and shoot, but will abruptly show his incompetence when it would come to compose a frame for a perfect picture, one after another.

Your marriage is not an occasion to try how well a photographer will capture the essence of your marriage in vivid details, so instead of hiring anyone for the job, look for the best photographer in your budget and get contemporary photography Leeds captured.

Find the best contemporary wedding photography Leeds in 3 easy steps

Step 1: Search for them

The first step in the process is to make a list of probable marriage photographers you may hire for your wedding. For this, you should talk to your friends who got married ask for the names and addresses of contemporary wedding photography Leeds studio they hired for their wedding. You should also search on the Internet for them. The idea is to make a list consisting of a good many wedding photographers, so that you can have optimal number of options at the time of the final decision.

Step 2: Check the portfolio

After making the list, you should shortlist 5-7 from the list based on the expertise and portfolio of the photographer. Begin with checking the online portfolio of each of the photographer you have included in the list in step one. I am suggesting you to do it online because visiting each of their business premises will be too much time consuming and is not required.

You should also read their bio on their website, which is generally featured in "About" section, to get an idea of the photographer's accomplishment.

Just reading testimonials on the website of a photographer is not enough, though it can be a starting point. You should ask the photographer in Leeds to give you reference of his past clients so that you can verify the quality of works he did.

Many years down the line when you will be old and the freshness of your marriage will wane out, you will need the help of photos clicked (and the video shot) on the day of your marriage to remind you of the wonderful time you had at your wedding.
