

Article published on April 3rd 2012 | Customer Service

International shipping is a complex operation involving a number of metrics. These metrics make a major impact on the efficiency of operation, cost of operation and overall safety of the cargo. So, before you hire an international shipping company, make sure to check out the below given four aspects.

Service customization

International shipping companies should provide customized service so that individual requirements of customers are met. Customization should be provided in all aspects of shipping, ranging from choice of container, packaging method, door service and time of delivery. If customers require warehousing facility before being delivered at the destination, the shipper should provide the facility. In addition, a good international freight shipping company should inform the customer about all requirements of shipping and ensure that any issues that are likely to be raised by the customer is promptly taken care of. Since every customer has different requirements based on the type of cargo to be shipped, time of delivery and kind of packaging required, it is important for shipping companies to provide customized service.

Cargo tracking

Cargo tracking is another important aspect since it helps you be in touch with your goods. You might also want to schedule your departure based on the location of the cargo so that you arrive in time to collect it. Also, you are ensured about the safety of your goods if you know they are on schedule. In case there are holdups, the international ocean company can inform you in time and take measures to avoid further delays. Tracking service is also important in order to provide good customer service, which is another important prerequisite of a good international shipping company. In fact, shipping companies these days allow their customers to track the movement of the ship on which their cargo is mounted. The company provides a secure password with the help of which, you can log into the tracking platform and know how your cargo is faring. This facility also gives you peace of mind.

Shipping method

Shipping method refers to packaging, loading, cargo consolidation, unloading and storing of cargo. For example, if you need to ship your car, you can choose from different options. You have two main options - ocean container shipping and Roll-on-Roll-off shipping. Specialized international car shipping companies prefer to carry automobiles in RO-RO containers. These are special containers in which cars can be driven in and parked at the origin of shipping and can be directly driven off at the destination. This avoids the risks involved in loading and unloading. If you need to ship fragile goods, the packing has to be strong enough to protect the articles from breaking due to shocks.

Pricing

Finally, pricing is another important aspect. Efficient companies help you cut costs by smart shipping methods such as use of reusable containers and cargo consolidation. The pricing system should be straightforward and transparent. On your part, you need to check out for any hidden costs that can increase the overall cost of shipping. Comparing shipping quotes online is a good way of arriving at a company that offers excellent services within reasonable costs.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/customer-service-articles/international-shipping-four-important-aspects-to-check-out.htm> - Article Side

Martine Thomas - About Author:

The most important thing that you should take into account when searching for a International shipping companies is the a worldwide shipping once you find that they are offering best quotes, you should be ready to choose one of them.

Article Keywords:

International shipping, International shipping companies, International shipping company, International freight shipping, International ocean shipping, International ocean company, International car shipping

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!