Accommodation in Tavistock Devon â€“ the perfect place for a Valentines meal or overnight stay by Becky

Article published on February 10th 2012 | Destinations

Valentineâ€™s Day is fast approaching and for many people choosing a restaurant to go for dinner or a hotel for a romantic getaway can be difficult and sometimes stressful. You want to ensure you choose the right place, with the great food, a romantic atmosphere and where the price isnâ€™t too steep, so you can still afford the perfect gift for your loved one. So how can you make the choice?

Here are some key tips on how to choose the perfect venue.

Is there a restaurant or hotel that is already special to you and your partner? Many couples have a restaurant close to their hearts, so this might make the choice easier. However, you may want to completely surprise them by taking them somewhere they havenâ€™t been to before.

However, Valentineâ€™s Day might not be the best time to try out a new restaurant. You will be unsure of what to expect and things such as the service or food will be unpredictable - you could end up not enjoying your date at all. On the other hand, if your partner is adventurous and loves to try new things then you could choose a place based on recommendations from friends or reviews you read online.

For a first date you could try picking a restaurant you have eaten at before, this way you know the food will be great and the ambience will be perfect! Or if youâ€™re feeling bold, ask your date what their favourite restaurant is and book a table â€“ this way they wonâ€™t be disappointed.

Going for a local place over a chain of restaurants can also feel a lot more intimate. Smaller restaurants can have a more unique feel and the staff will give you the attention that you deserve.

Look for places that may be offering special Valentineâ€™s Day menus or romantic breaks. Some places offer unique food or Valentineâ€™s breaks in their hotels including dinner and bed and breakfast or just a romantic bed and breakfast package.

Some hotels may even come up with Valentineâ€™s Day packages to suit you, just take a look at these:
