Buenos Aires Airport-Meeting International Standards!

by Aron Howard

Article published on March 27th 2012 | Destinations

Offering a connection to the rest of the world with Argentina, Buenos Aires airport plays a significant role. Offering an opportunity to travel internationally as well as domestically, there are three airports in Buenos Aires. Since leading airlines ply their services to and fro from the destination, the airports experience heavy traffic. The airports are not located far away from the city rather they are located close to the heart of the city. Besides full service airlines, many cheap flights are also available here. These flights come as a boon to many people who cannot afford costly tickets. Their dream to enjoy a vacation at a fabulous destination comes true by purchasing cheap tickets to Buenos Aires. The three airports in the city are J. Newbery Aero Park Airport, Ezeiza Ministro Pistarini International Airport and the Comandante Espora Aero Station Airport. With high end infrastructural aspects, the airports are perfect to cater to the growing number of visitors coming into and going out from the city.

The traffic passing through them is quite high since the airport acts as a hub point to gain entry into the whole of the country, Argentina as well as Buenos Aires. To reach the city, any of these three airports can be used. Although, all airports are located close to the city centre, the most used airport is the Ezeiza International Airport as it is just 34kms away from the heart of the city.

Flights from all over the world reach this destination and similarly flights operate to almost all parts of the world, especially US. Since both international as well as domestic flights operate from here, the airport has gained significant popularity and importance. For connections to nearby countries, besides these airports, there are several other international airports as well. The Ezeiza Airport is the main connection for catching flights to North America, Europe, and other destinations. Many cheap flights to Buenos Aires also ply their services for budget travelers.

Airport tax needs to be paid when an individual is flying through one of the local airports. But in case one needs to exit the country, an additional exit tax also needs to be paid. It is advisable to take guidance and assistance from a professional travel agent regarding entry visas and taxes that are required to be paid. Since these people are knowledgeable about all these aspects, it is better relying on their advice. They can also help to book air flights making it convenient for people to streamline their travel plans. They can also ask the travel agents to book hotel accommodation thereby avoiding any chances of disappointment later on.

The infrastructure at these airports meets the global standards. All basic facilities and amenities are available here. The travel desks of all flights to Buenos Aires at the airport, helps tourists to select the tickets as per his or her travel plans.

As soon as one comes out of the airport, there are taxis and buses to help visitors reaching city center. Car rental offices are also located here and in case one would like to go for renting a car, they can contact the company representatives.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/destinations-articles/buenos-aires-airport-meeting-international-standards.htm - Article Side

Aron Howard - About Author:

Aron Howard is an associate editor with Farebuzz.com. The website offers exclusive information related to a target_new First Class and a target_new cheap flights to Buenos Aires.

Article Keywords:
travel to Buenos Aires, Buenos Aires holidays, beautiful city Buenos Aires

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!