Article published on August 24th 2012 | Destinations

Murcia is currently the capital of Costa Calida with a major port function. This Spanish city was originally founded in 221 BC by the Carthaginians who called it Carthago Nova. A lot of effort was put into this city to develop it economically and politically.

Murcia may seem to be one of the smaller regions in Spain but it packs a bunch of excitement to the tourists. It is at Spainâ€™s south east lying between Andalucia and Valencia. The city is rich in history through the influence of various epochs which include the Carthaginians, Moors and Romans before the Christian Re-Conquest came on.

Natural beauty

Murcia has been declared as the city with the worldâ€™s best climate by the World Health Organization with its pleasant and consistent sunshine throughout the year. Sun lovers adore Murcia for the beautiful tan they can get easily.

The strategic geographical location of Murcia allows its plains to flourish as richly cultivated agriculture lands producing fruits and vegetables that include oranges, lemons, apricots and grapes.

Beautiful natural landscapes surround Murcia with a lot of picturesque mountain ranges and a fantastic coastline that stretches 250 km.

Murcia is blessed with the 2027m Revolcadores massif and other lower mountain ranges at the northwest and center of the province. There are many sierras with national parks like El Carche, Ricote, La Pilar and the Sierra EspuÃ±a.

There are plenty of beautiful national parks with lush forests.

Accommodations

Murcia at Costa Calida has many fine accommodations for a good holiday anytime. There are hotels and holiday apartments which can be rented along the coastline to facilitate the holiday plans of tourists.

The Bahia hotel is located at Mazarron. The rooms are comfortable and equipped with the basic amenities. There is a bar along with a Mediterranean restaurant serving good food and drinks. A terrace overlooks a well kept garden with a relaxing ambience at the coast of Murcia.

The Hotel La Cumbre is situated at the highest peak of Puerto de Mazazarron hill with a panoramic view of the city. The hotel rooms are comfortable with an individual balcony overlooking the village or sea.

Holiday apartments are popular in Murcia. There are many family run holiday apartments around Murcia which are located close to the beaches; these make a strong favorite to family bookings or small groups that want privacy and affordability. The holiday apartments allow guests to enjoy some simple home cooked food instead of eating out all the time during their holiday.

All rooms are air-conditioned with nearby towns and other attractions.
