Dancer Catamaran - Great Experience with Cancun Catamarans by Jhon Ford

Article published on January 5th 2012 | Destinations

The Dancer is said to be one of the â€œbiggest badest catamarans in Cancunâ€•. If you need a full day tour of all out excitement and fun in Cancun, this is the catamaran tour for you! This catamaran tour is not just a booze cruise, even though it is open bar all day, it has some of the best snorkeling in Cancun. When you book one of the best tours in Cancun with Cancun Vista at Tours-Cancun.com, they will send you a map and provide you with all the important information that you will need for your catamaran trip through the Caribbean waters. Welcome aboard the Dancer Catamaran!

The cruise party begins at the pier where the friendly and energetic staff welcomes you to one of the most fun cruises in Cancun. As you and your friends board the catamaran, immediately you know it will be a fun day! The staff serves your drinks and offers sweet bread in case you didnÂ´t have time for breakfast. As the catamaran leaves the pier the cruise party is already beginning. All the staff is introduced by the MC and he explains the plan for the day and all the safety instructions.

First we make a stop at a pier north of Cancun and are given two options. We can stay on the boat for some hands on salsa dancing lessons or walk down to the small (but very entertaining) tour of El Meco Mayan ruins. El Meco is one of those places that you might not ever know to go otherwise; itâ€™s definitely off the beaten path. Not only are the ruins interesting but the guide was hilarious! We also had the opportunity to take some photos with the â€œMayan Princessâ€• (one of the staff in costume).

After returning to the catamaran, we were greeted with a cold bottle of water and had a few minutes to prepare ourselves for snorkeling. The staff helped us with life jackets and gave us instructions for our exploration of snorkeling in Cancun. I canÂ´t say enough about the snorkeling, the reef and fish were amazing! The time in the water was about 40 minutes and as we were swimming back to the boat, the others were having a blast on the water slide and diving board.

After we dried off and sat down the staff promptly began serving our lunch of chicken and beef fajitas, grilled vegetables with a side salad. Letâ€™s not forget the fresh guacamole and chips and that they always offered a refill before my cup could become empty! Just about the time we were finishing our lunch we were arriving at Isla Mujeres (the island of women) for some shopping and sight-seeing. We decided to rent a golf cart to cover as much ground as possible in two hours.

It took a little less than an hour to get back to Cancun, but it could have been the most fun of the cruise party! We danced and drank and danced a little more. The staff on the Dancer Catamaran is so funny. They had us dress in wigs and funny hats as we danced the YMCA and did the limbo.

Of all the cheap tours in Cancun that we could have done, the Dancer Catamaran was one of the best tours in Cancun, MÃ©xico. Just some tips if you decide to reserve the tour at Tours-Cancun.com would be to bring a towel, camera, suntan lotion, sunglasses, cash, and your driverÂ´s license in case you want to rent a golf cart. If you tend to get seasick, try to remember to bring medicine with you as they do not have available on the catamaran. Since we had such a good time we discovered that the catamaran is available for private tours. They do offer a three hour lobster dinner at sunset cruise that we are planning to do for our friendÂ´s pre-wedding event.

Like I said â€œIf you need a full day tour of all out excitement and fun in Cancun, Dancer Catamaran is the catamaran tour for you!â€•
