South India, a land enriched with history, culture, values, natural beauty and royalty, is one of the best and most preferred tourist destinations around the world. The natural world itself portrays a diverse picture before the visitors with beautiful hills, backwaters and azure deep oceans. For most of the people a tour to India encompasses a journey to the color, culture, mythology and folklores of the land. A luxury vacation in the southern part of India riding on iron wheels that speaks of the glory and valor of the kings and queens of bygone era is an experience of a lifetime.

The introduction of the Golden Chariot, a luxury train offering two distinct itineraries to the enchanting landscapes of the South, was visualized with a view to make the experience of each traveler grand and magnificent. The train is more like a palace and its journey exactly replicates the lifestyle of the royal people of past epoch. The exclusive interior décor, the regal hospitality and the presence of technically advance modern amenities add on the shades of royalty to your entire jaunt.

Whether it is the tastefully designed cutleries, intricate wood carvings or even the placement of the flower pots, every single object is so perfectly furnished and delicately placed that bring down the shivers into your spine. Moreover, a seamless fusion of the traditional décor with world class modern amenities is like presenting “old wine in a new bottle”™.

With its two itineraries- Pride of the South and Splendor of the South, the Golden Chariot takes the voyagers in a ride to their dreamland covering a wide range of landscapes, manmade marbles and many other places that has their own stories to tell. The aim of this Indian luxury train is to cater to its guests the multicolored shades of Indian lifestyle- both past and present. The artistic culture, religious belief and historical heritage of south India, everything has found a place in the design and concept of this luxury train.

The south Indian region and especially Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh became the target of the invaders from time to time because of its rich variety of spices. Thus enjoying a mouthwatering cuisine in this luxury train that precisely makes use of the fresh spices of the land mounts to the expectation of the food lovers around the world. Moreover, a delicately selected wine in a crystal glass makes your jaunt all the more magical. The interplay of light and shade inside the train shows the brilliance of the visionary of the Golden Chariot.

Whether you are from the distant land of the west or a resident of India, a luxury holiday vacation experience in one of the most plush luxury trains in India, will present before you a more vivid picture of the Indian land and lifestyle with a touch of grandness. This incredible voyage of 8 days and 7 nights in the Golden Chariot not only makes your tour to India an ostentatious experience of your life, but give you the flavor of a magical ride every day.
