With intoxicating hedonism at one corner and devout spiritualism at another, Bangkok is an enchanting paradox that emerges as a panacea to the soul. Be it culture, food, shopping or nightlife â€“ the metropolis of Thailand entices millions of travellers to hit its shores. Nevertheless, it is the ceaseless shopping scenario of Bangkok that takes the credit for the high demand of cheap flight tickets to Thailand.

The Thai city is an ideal spot for rejuvenating the mind and satiating the craving with gigantic offerings. Here the glitzy malls shine in the day and bustling night markets make for the night time revelry â€“ shopping is literally a 24/7 thing in Bangkok! However the exuberance of night markets is a forte of Bangkok and it is absolutely must for every visitor to immerse into it!!

Patpong Night Market

Patpong Night Market is a one big reason for high demand of cheap tickets to Bangkok. As the sun sets down, the pavement along the north side of Silom bustles with tons of tourists and shines with neon lights. Since the market is adjoined with Saladaeng BTS Station on Silom Road, it is very easily accessible. Ready-to-wear garments, tapes and CDs, computer software, watches, household ornaments and souvenirs are among the products on sale. Sunday morning is the best time to visit the market and it is absolutely must for tourist to try hands at bargaining as most of the vendors charge hefty amounts for the goods. The market is replete with go-go bars and also offers great opportunity to delve in the raucous nightlife of Bangkok.

Khao San Road

A must-visit destination for some intoxicating shopping spree â€“ Khao San Road offers a great opportunity to experience the beguiling Thai ambience. Situated in the Banglamphu neighbourhood (Phra Nakhon district), Khao San Road is easily accessible via express boats, buses and taxis. The night market never dismays the hearts of shoppers bagging cheap flight tickets to Bangkok. Narrow pavements of the road feature a number of vintage shops that allow the shoppers to lay hands on items like designer clothes and trinkets, footwear, fisherman's pants, sunglasses, textiles and music CDs and DVDs.

Ratchada Night Bazaar

Located in Ratchadaphisek in Northern Bangkok, Ratchada Night Bazaar is an unorganized night market. Nestling between the between the MRT Underground car park and the Lad Phrao Criminal Court building, the night bazaar makes for a compelling stop for buying a variety of stuff. Here the shops and stalls are abounded with assortment of things like leather bags, shoes, books, antiques, furniture and home decorative items. A long stretch of classy collection of vintage scooters and motorbikes is a major attraction of the market.

Klong Thom Market

Renowned for its marvellous range of second-hand goods and a popular attraction of Chinatown, Klong Thom Market is a Saturday night market that operates till the morning hours. Klong Thom Market is a multiple storey building and is located at the corner of Worachak Road and Chao Kamrop Road in Chinatown. From wonderful electronic devices to fascinating outfits, from DVDs and CDs to auto spare parts - the market makes for an apt destination for grabbing variety of products at dirt cheap prices.

Rod Fai Market (Talad Rod Fai)

A place to relive the glory of vintage â€“ Rod Fai Market is an open-air-bazaar that oozes the magnificence of bygone era! Situated at Khamphaengphet Road in Chatuchak, the market is a fitting place to get your hands on all sorts of yesteryear collection including wooden furniture, antiques, classic electronic items, accessories and much more. Besides shopping, sample some gourmet cuisines available at dozens of restaurants and stalls strewn across the market.
