Article published on December 2nd 2011 | Destinations

India is a tourism-friendly nation that entices travelers from far and wide. Nevertheless, tourism in India dates back to the ancient times, and travelers flocked to the continent for various purposes like learning, pilgrimage and trade. Now, with handiness of better and faster means of communication, there has been a monolithic development in this concept. Today, tourism in India is the largest service industry that contributes virtually 6.23% to the total GDP of the nation. Every year, India witnesses the arrival of over 5 million international tourists and serves to more than 700 million domestic backpackers. And, all this is not without a reason. Its geographical vividness, cultural bounties and historical significance make it a unique melting pot charm of that is enough to leave anyone spellbound.

India has all kinds of tourism that protrudes it an ultimate tourist spot. This multi-cultural, multi-lingual and multi-religious country features a tremendous geographical diversity, making it a unique demesne loved by the travelers of all profile. The rest part of the article explains the types of tourism, which are popular in India.

Religious or Pilgrim tourism: This is perhaps the most increasing section of Indian tourism that has long been inspiring the tourists from all over the world. Divinity runs in the blood of Indian, and its extent seems to be immeasurable. Almost every nook and corner of this multi-religious country features temples, churches or mosques, which have kept alive the spiritual sentiment of the people. Veshno Devi, Haridwar, Badrinath, Varanshi, Jagannath Puri, Tirupati, Bodh Gaya and Ajmer the major pilgrimage destinations in India, where millions of devotees visit to pray, and pay homage to their favorite God/Goddess. Nowadays, many travel companies provide professional assistance through tour packages like Tirupati darshan package, Veshno Devi package to ensure pilgrims having a comfortable trip to these destinations.

Adventure tourism: As India boasts a rich diversity in term of climate and topography, opportunities for adventure tourism are endless in the country. From mountain climbing to forest trailing, and desert safari to water sports, India has a complete range of adventures that suits all abilities. Places like Ooty, Manali, Shimala, Mussoorie, Goa and Sikkim provide the tourists a thrilling holiday experience. Travelers can buy tour packages like Ooty packages, and can enjoy nature and adventure simultaneously.

Heritage tourism: Owing to its astounding cultural diversity, Indiaâ€™s heritage tourism has long been the center of attraction for domestic as well as international tourists. There are numerous temples, palaces, forts and monuments that narrate Indiaâ€™s rich heritage and cultures. To explore Indiaâ€™s heritage charm, Tajmahal in Agra, Red Fort and Jama Masjid in Delhi, Mahabali Puram in Tamil Nadu, and Mandawa castle in Rajasthan are worth to visit on. Besides this, Jaipur travel and visit to Utterpradesh and Kerala let the travelers explore numerous heritage sites of India.

Some other kinds of tourism promoted by India are Eco tourism, Ayurveda & Meditation tourism, Cultural tourism and Ecological tourism. Apart from that, beautiful coastal areas of India are hard to resist for nature lovers and water-sports fanciers.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/destinations-articles/india-tourism-a-progressing-and-charismatic-

Hungry Bags - About Author:
This article has been written by an expert working for Hungry Bags, a reliable source to get tour packages for various destinations like a ooty packages, a jaipur travel and Tirupati darshan.

Article Keywords:
ooty packages, jaipur travel, tirupati darshan, jaipur packages, tiruputi travel, ooty tour

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!