The Attractive Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao by Allen Marvin

Article published on July 10th 2012 | Destinations

The Bilbao museum Guggenheim is one of the most remarkable buildings in Bilbao and it is hard to miss it while in the area. It is famed and among the best sights that you could choose to see in Bilbao. The architecture on the building is quite beautiful and the decorations are simply breathtaking. It has geometric and organic glass forms for decorations. The decorations are also made of limestone and titanium making the building the more beautiful.

On coming across the museum, the first thing that you will notice is the ship like shape it has. It is more like a small ship stranded on its way up stream. It is therefore something that will strike you immediately you come across it. Outside this famed museum are interesting sculptures which have served as major attractions on it and you will find very many tourists who come here to behold the puppy flower sculpture and the spider sculpture.

Guggenheim museum happens to be among the seven museums in the world for the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation. It is therefore expected that it has lots of relevance to the region and the country as a whole hence the popularity. It has a huge exhibition area from where you will catch some of the best temporary exhibitions and permanent collection. Most of the temporary exhibitions consist of works from the 20th century to date and you will definitely find each piece quite interesting.

The collection which is permanent within the museum on the other hand consists of contemporary art exhibits among them the amazing works of famed artists such as Robert Rauschenberg, Louis Bourgeois, Jeff Koons and David Salle. The pieces are valued and are treasures of the big museum of Bilbao.

Among the things that you will normally find under the temporary exhibitions in the museum include sculptures, paintings and even video art and staging. They also accommodate different other artistic manifestations all of which are meant to be exciting and educative at the same time. This museum is indeed a jewel Bilbao and it is one of those places that you can never afford to ignore while on a tour in the city or spending a holiday in the city and region. It is a great place to be for art lovers and touches on the different aspects of art all at once and in the best way possible.
