Tours in Bristol City Centre by Lek Boonlert

Article published on December 6th 2011 | Destinations

There are many different tours available in Bristol, from city walks to boat trips. Excursions a little further from the centre into the surrounding countryside are also possible. There is sure to be something to suit all tastes and ages, and for those who want to travel independently, information on car hire and places to visit will be available from their Bristol city centre hotel.

Walking tours of the city can be audio tours, where it is possible to follow at an individual pace, or there are a selection of guided walks that cover a lot of the cityâ€™s historical areas, buildings and other places of interest. There is also a special pirate inspired guided walk around the harbour and marina areas, which specialises in Bristolâ€™s rich marine history.

Boat and ferry tours are also popular with visitors to Bristol. It is a great way to see some of the sights the city has to offer but from a brand new perspective. Evening cruises allow passengers to enjoy the Clifton Suspension Bridge when it is illuminated and looking even more spectacular. River trips can last between two and four hours depending on which cruise is chosen.

Open top bus tours around the city are very popular. They are a true sightseeing staple and great fun for all the family. Building tours such as Bristol Cathedral are awe-inspiring. The cathedral itself is a fantastic example of architectural genius and has a rich and long history. Tours to the cathedral are usually seasonal, between the months of May and October.
