Both autobiography and biography can manage to inspire you as it talks about the life of a celebrated personality. However, the difference is that an autobiography has been written by the same individual on whom the story is. On the other hand, a biography is a piece of work which is done by an individual on the life of someone else.

So, what is the best way of using these books? The first thing that one should consider doing is that one should sit down with an objective understanding in mind.
