This is a technological era. There have been many inventions and innovations that have been taking place. With the advent of the Internet age now most of the things are accessible online only. There is no need for you to travel much or hunt for offline store for any product or services with the advent of Internet. This concept even falls true with the newspapers. Though the print media is the traditional format of the newspapers and most of the people prefer availing this kind of format but it often becomes difficult to find the kind of newspaper that you might be looking for a local news.

In a situation when you are out of town or in a different country all together it might become difficult for you to access the local news through a local newspaper. Not all the newspaper are available everywhere. Local newspapers have local publication and are printed and distributed in a local area. So a Malayalam newspaper would bot be available in some other state or a country except its local. In such a case the online medium is very efficient as you can avail all kinds of different newspapers online only.

Also the online form of a newspaper is better efficient compared to the print media. Compared to the print medium, an online newspaper may contain a larger amount of information and details. An online newspaper many have many other links imbibed to the page. These links might in turn open up to a new page all together with some another set of information. Also the online form of a newspaper contains many videos and sound effects. This makes the online form of the newspaper to be more attractive and indulging compared to the print format of the newspaper.

There are many websites available that avail you with the online form of newspapers at reasonable and cheaper rates. You can also get a copy of the online version of some local newspapers like the Malayalam newspaper that makes it easy for you to access the details of your local news just online through a single click.
