Education is the soul of the society that passes from one generation to another. It is not the filling of the bucket, rather lighting of a fire. What is learnt ends only when you die, it follows the owner everywhere. With the increase in the job transfers, the parents have to suddenly shift to new cities with their whole family setup. They are then required to relocate their accommodation and schools of their children. These situations make the parents anxious, especially when it comes to choosing a school.

Being new to the city it becomes a challenging task for the parents, for its not easy to grab a seat in the good schools. Hence, instead of opting for state board, parents may search for the CBSE schools that follow the same study pattern throughout the country. If you have changed the city and are putting up in Pune or Kolkata, there are a lot many good CBSE schools waiting for your child.

The CBSE schools in Kolkata outshine the other cities in education. The schools provide admission to the child from the class where they finished the last. These schools provide the kids with best infrastructure, well trained teachers, excellent academics and the co-curricular activities at a nominal fees structure. Some of the well known schools include Kendriya Vidyalaya, Apeejay School, Collins Institute, DAV Public School, Hartley's School, and Abhinav Bharati Public Schools. Apart from the co-educational institutes there are many schools that provide separate girls and boys education too.

Similarly, if you have repositioned in Pune, you may locate the schools very easily for it is an educational hub. The CBSE schools in Pune are famous for the high standard of education, building up the future generation. The schools give the tough competition to the best schools throughout the country, focusing on grooming up the overall personality of the students. Some of the top schools of Pune are N.M.V. High School, St Mary's School Pune, St Vincent School Pune, St Joseph's School Pune, St Annie's High School Pune and Abhinav School Pune.

Delhi Public School Pune is the second initiative of the Takshila Education Society, established in 2003. In a very short span, the school has established itself as one of the best K-12 institute in western India. The school aims at maximizing the capacity of the kids studying there so that they may walk through the doors of opportunities. Spread over several acres, the school provides modern architecture, well-lit classrooms, outdoor theatres, swimming pool, cafeteria and beautifully landscaped lawns. The campus is eco-friendly and well connected with the computer networks.

Several online school admission websites are there which are working towards helping the parents who are in search for schools. On such sites you can simply trace the reputed schools in youâ€™re neighborhood. Get the full information online about your dream school followed by a personal visit to meet school faculty and get familiar about the basic study pattern.
