Various reasons are cited by parents and even pondered when they decide to send their kids to schools. This is a time where the children are in their formative years. Taking the right step would be instrumental in bringing about a change in their personality as well as help in the improvement of their intelligent quotient. A different approach is being provided by the boarding schools these days, where the holistic format helps in creating smart and intelligent students.

Of the different types of schools that are found in India, the boarding schools have scored over others. Although there are day schools in almost every city of India, and even in the villages, yet the boarding schools are being sought by many parents. Those who are ready to let their kids go off to stay in a hostel, ideally choose the path of the boarding schools. This is the reason for the high scale popularity of the boarding schools in Bangalore.

Plenty of professionals are working in the city, who have jobs that are not only hectic but also demanding. They remain busy with their work and earn a good amount of money. They can afford to send their children to boarding schools and give them a chance to have a wholesome education. Being well established as a educational hub, the city of Pune also has a number of boarding schools, which have the high standard of education imparted in their campuses.

Boarding schools in Pune are known for their discipline and the all round activities that are done regularly for the students. Classroom teaching is of the best quality and is being done by theory lessons as well as practical exposure. Each subject is given due importance and the students are encouraged to be inquisitive and try and solve various problems related to studies on their own. Extracurricular activities are being done regularly, which helps the students to nurture their inherent talents and hobbies.

Students who have passed from the boarding schools in Chennai are competent in studies as well as in various sporting activities. Not only they get good results in the exams, but are also able to take part and excel in quizzes, painting, sports, and other non academic activities. Boarding schools in Chennai such as Lordâ€™s International School have become the preferred place by many parents to let their children study for their board exams.

Some of the well known boarding schools in Pune are BK Birla Center for Education, Riverdale International Residential School, Viswashanti Gurukul, etc. These schools are either affiliated to the International Baccalaureate Organization, Central Board of Secondary education, Indian Certificate of Secondary Education or the state boards. Most of the boarding schools in Bangalore are affiliated to ICSE board and these include Baldwin boys High School and Baldwin Girls High School, Sarala Birla Academy, etc to name a few.

Since the boarding schools in these cities have existed since a long time, their education system has become furnished and well established. Students entering into these institutes have the best facilities available for them, so that they can read and play and grow into being productive personalities.
