Proper information and knowledge is very important for every body who wants to excel in their life. That's the only reason we opt for the best schools and college when it comes to ours and our children education. But to sustain in the real world one has to have the bit of practical knowledge with their academic education otherwise they can face a list of problem in their survival.

When it comes to acquiring knowledge, learning new things in academic section is easier if compared to the gaining new practical knowledge for the life. As the academic education can be easily gained by cramming a few of the formulas and new chapters but when we talk about practical knowledge it can only be achieved by experiencing a few of the unforgettable incidents in life (which can completely change us forever).

There are various ways to gaining new knowledge and information on practical bases, but the easiest way of them all is to learn new things and new lessons of life through somebody else experience, as because when we read a book or a story based on someone else personal experience in life, it becomes easy for us to relate with that particular incident, and in result the majorly focused issue becomes clear to us.

The basic term used for such book, which are biased on true events and stories of real life are known as non-fiction books. Few of the examples of such type of books are the autobiography books and biographies books which are biased on the life of some of the very important personalities of the world. Through which we can learn some of the important lessons of our life without going through that tough period of life they had to pass by.

In the list of very famous non-fiction books, one which made a great impact on the world is "PAPILLON" biased on the real life story of "HarperCollins". This book tells us about the extreme extents of a person struggle who has been punished for a crime not committed by him (murder). This book explains us how important freedom is for one person to live his life and how can the lack of judgments and ignorance can completely change a person life forever.

There are times in our lives when we think that staying quite and accepting what life has give us, can southern the pain, but with the help of Papillion (main character in this book) in this book we get to know how important it is to stand for self when we are right.

Gaining such practical knowledge through personal experience can bring nightmares to us, but with the help of this book you can come closer to the truth in indirect manners, where you can feel the pain the various characters have gone through but you don't have to face it.

These are some of the important situation where nonfiction books help us to a great extent in understanding them deeply, and provide as an appropriate reason to read them.
