Learning has been very challenging and as some it goes down to the grave. It is basically and never ending process, wherein the individuals struggle and try to overcome and some have succeeded to a great extent, Thank God for that. However learning has its own special key. This special key works the way to success. This is mainly working upon the habits of the individuals which is the driving force to the whole activity.

â€¢ Responsibility

Responsibility a very power word, which many people view as hard labor and while others pursues the same. Those who have done justice by perusing the same have reaped a good harvest, while others have been ignorant. In this critical area the actions have to be prioritized by the student, so that an undivided attention is given to the subject matter. Setting of priorities should be the endeavor. Then to see the fulfillment of these priorities.

â€¢ Keeping the values and principles in focus this is very critical part, wherein it is important to know what values have been inculcate by our parents, elders and others who are really concerned with our up bringing. The students will have to re-focus or dedicate their attention to the very core values that they have attained during the course of their interaction with the families, elders and so on. Do not be misled by contrary advice through friends and other circles.

â€¢ Prioritize

Work upon the priorities that have been set by you and be focused on the aims and goals that you have mentioned. While making these goals and aims, try to jot down the same, so that the you have set for yourself. Try and work on your distractions and keep the interest in your goals, alove by consistent thinking and evaluation upon its working and processing.

â€¢ Search and discover the areas which enhance your performance

This is a self search area, where the student will have to work upon to discover his or her own timings during the day, which part would be most appropriate for them to start worming upon. Some prefer early morning while other prefer the nights. During these periods of high performance or productivity please ensure that the focus is not lost. These priorities will have to set for the most difficult academic or study challenges. Remain calm and not under hyper pressure, otherwise the results are deterred.

â€¢ Mutually benefited situation when the performance of any student enhances, it actually contributes his or her very best to their academic sessions in a class, which raises the banner of his or her section. Thereafter it also helps the mentor or teacher. This increase or augmentation in your grades will actually allow you to graph your own standing.

â€¢ Search for better solutions

Normally when something is not understood the general tendency is search for the solution by self.

Then one should not just sop there instead ho further and get a better collective view and rationalize the same and apply to the situation. For the same you may approach your teachers, other senior students, consult academics, groups which are in the academic area and so on till you are satisfied with the solution.

â€¢ First listen and then let others listen

God has created us with tow ears for hearing more and one mouth to speak less. When we hear and try and understand what others are communicating, whether it is a teacher or instructor, hear home or her out totally and then work upon your response to the same. When you have understood the same properly then work upon your response and then they would hear you out. Then the argument cited by you will hold water else it may be dismissed.

â€¢ Life is a consistent moving process

Matter does not just end here, and life continues and more challenges come in with every passage of time. The mettle in you should be so designed to meet any and every challenge, thereby strengthening you.
