How to Setup Preschool Franchise curriculum by Udaykiran

Article published on August 10th 2012 | Education

To run a successful preschool, one requires a state of the art curriculum that covers all aspects of the child's all round development. Kreedo has incorporated best practices from several early childhood philosophies drawing especially from the Montessori method (in practice) and the Multiple Intelligences (in theory) proposed by Howard Gardner in devising the comprehensive solution. The curriculum emphasizes the key areas of development in the child in the spheres of Senso-motor, Personality, Language, Cognitive and Creative skills.

Within each area, we have identified specific development objectives to be met for each child undergoing preschool education as part of our curriculum. The curriculum has been developed with inputs from early childhood educators, school owners, special educators, preschool teachers, Montessorians and more over a period of 2-3 years before it has come to fruition. The curriculum also gives a clear timetable in terms of what needs to be done throughout the year in terms of activities and themes.

Shown below is an illustration of the main focus areas of the curriculum that we term the "Learning Tree".Preschool curriculum has gained considerable amount of popularity in last few years.
