

Article published on March 26th 2012 | Education

There are dozens of dissertation proposal samples that you have viewed but are still unsure of how to write one. Are you looking for key contents of dissertation proposal example to pen down a customized one of yours?

You are working on your final project of research but you are stuck at devising a research proposal and are looking up for some guidelines. You are in search of a dissertation proposal example that elaborates the content of a proper proposal. You want your proposal to approved in the first instant a proper sample will help you achieve it.

While writing a dissertation proposal, you need to keep these 5 sections in mind and start with your work.

1.Introductory chapter

This chapter entails the most important issues related to the topic of your dissertation. It also gives the details of the purpose of study as well as clarifies the scope and focus of the research. The introductory chapter of the dissertation aims to give a brief overview of the dissertation and the summary of the further chapters.

2.Stating the Research Problem

State your research question to explain the readers the specific areas that you are going to cover. It shows the issues that you want to answer through your research work. This section highlights the rationale, importance and uniqueness of your chosen topic in relation to your academic field.

3.Defining the context

This section involves the definition of important terminologies and key concepts that will be used in your dissertation. It also adjusts them in the framework of your study by explaining the context in which they will be utilized. This chapter works as theoretical ground for the research as the key construct are explained according to their usage.

First, the literal meaning of the term is explained and then its context with reference to the study is defined.

4.Discuss your Methodology

In the fourth chapter of your dissertation proposal, state the research design and data collection technique. Methodology comprises of how the research will progress and what tools will be used for collecting data as well as give solid reasons for the particular choice. This chapter works as a base for the method and techniques employed in the research study.

This section entails the research design that is duly justified with its advantages and limitations.

5.Bibliography and Appendix

Cite all the resources that were used in preparing the proposal. Use the reference style according to your disciple. After listing down the sources, arrange them in an alphabetical order for the final draft.

Also, attach all the related material for further clarification to the reader.

An adequately written dissertation proposal contains the key areas of the original dissertation. To develop a clear understanding, the dissertation proposal example must explain the significance of every section. This helps the students to write their own customized proposal.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/education-articles/learn-the-key-contents-of-dissertation-proposal-example.htm> - Article Side

Kelly Black - About Author:

Kelly Black is a senior research writer and provides help for a Dissertation proposal example and a writing a dissertation proposal. Feel free to contact for any sort of help in this regard.

Article Keywords:

Dissertation proposal example, writing a dissertation proposal

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!