Looking for an MBA? Save Time and Money with One of the Top Five Online MBAs

by B_Taylor

Article published on February 7th 2012 | Education

In the past, if you have looked into the costs of a number of online MBA programs you will know that their status precedes their expense. Online MBA programs from a number of leading institutions seem to have the high price due to the reputation of the institution without a thought about the actual program and the experience the student will have as they complete their online MBA.

In truth there are a few good, relatively inexpensive online MBAs available if you look in the right places. If you can't afford to undertake an MBA through classroom based learning then other options are available that include a part-time MBA or MBAs that can be studied from home. The costs incurred by the institutions supplying these MBAs are much lower so you should expect a reduction in the cost to you. Indeed, many individuals now find that studying either part-time or from home is preferable. These methods mean the student can fit the course around their lives and, as long as they are committed to the program, then they will be able to progress through the course and work at times when they are focused on working.

It is possible to find out more information about the best MBA programs that are available to be studied via distance learning or online. A number of websites have recently been launched that claim to list the top 10 online MBAs so an internet search should be all the determined individual needs to get started.

If you can make the time to do a bit of research for your MBA today, it will really pay off tomorrow. Finding the best online MBA for you would be worth the investment you are going to make and if you pick the right one you should not have to sacrifice your income. As an increasing number of institutions provide rankings for online MBA programs, the research required to choose the right one for you is now much quicker than in the past.

Five of the Best Online MBA Programs*

University of Phoenix

At the University of Phoenix, you learn from a curriculum designed by experts in your field of study, whether you're earning your associate's, bachelor's, master's or doctoral degree. Our curriculum is developed in collaboration with our faculty and industry professionals to ensure that it is up-to-date and relevant. This means our programs aren't wasting your time; instead, you're gaining knowledge one day that you can use at work the next. Program availability varies by location and learning format.

American InterContinental University

AIU claims to be a results-focused university which places you are the center of your course and makes sure that the course fits around you. Their core principles are value, flexibility, adaptability, and the ability to make previous learning count.

Capella University

Capella claims to provide education designed for adults who want to change their current situation. You will gain support from your peers but also be challenged by your tutors who will bring out the best in you. The tutors are all experts in their fields, and many of our classes and programs are designed to meet standards established by professional associations, so you can gain the skills and knowledge sought by employers.

Kaplan University

Kaplan University is one of the largest online universities in the world. Kaplan University offers a myriad of online programs for both full-time and part-time students looking to efficiently advance their career and they claim to customize their students' learning to fit their lives and not make their student make sacrifices to study.

Walden University

At Walden, we believe that knowledge is most valuable when put to use in organizations, communities, and families. We offer over 60 online degree programs with more than 300 specializations and concentrations, all designed to help professionals gain the knowledge they need to have a real impact in their lives and the lives of others.

Although there are different online MBA schools, there are only a few that offer the best programs available. As a growing number of schools are beginning to launch top-ranked online courses it important to make sure you put the effort in prior to starting the course by completing your research and choosing the best course for you.

*Rankings by http://www.onlinemba.com, 2011

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/education-articles/looking-for-an-mba-save-time-and-money-with-one-of-the-top-five-online-mbas.htm - Article Side

B_Taylor - About Author:
Brenda Taylor is a freelance writer who has worked with a number of educational institutions and companies. Find out more about a online courses and how to go about studying an a online MBA.

Article Keywords:
online mba, online courses

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!