For CPAs, self-study CPE is regarded as the best option for several reasons. Self-study helps them to get rid of the hassle of taking an in-person course. Completing CPE hours through in-person courses is not always a viable option for CPAs due to scheduling conflicts and logistical difficulty. It is critical for the CPA to complete their CPE as itâ€™s necessary to keep their license for practicing. Thankfully, there are quite a few online CPE course providers like MasterCPE.com which provide great assistance for a CPA to undertake self-study CPE from the comforts of their home or office.

MasterCPE.com is a website that is judiciously crafted to ensure a user friendly interface for CPAs. Itâ€™s easy for the CPA to search and find the perfect CPE courses for themself. Detailed self-study CPE courses on different subjects are available, such as Accounting and Auditing, Computer Software, Finance, Management, Personal Dev, Specialized Knowledge, Taxation and ETHICS CPE. CPAs can take any of these courses and subscribe to them only for $149.

All courses include review questions and final exams, and the grading is also provided online. After subscribing to a course, the CPA can select it from their â€œMy Accountâ€• page by clicking on the course name, and then access the course materials, review questions and final exams. SELF STUDY CPE and available ethics CPE has never been so easy before.

The website steps the CPA through each course sequentially, moving onto the next section once he/she has successfully completed the previous section of the course. After completing the final exam successfully, a CPA can view and print the course certificate. And, if the CPA does not pass the final exam on their first attempt, Master CPE.com also allows them to take the exams as many time as they need.

MasterCPE.comâ€™s flexible policy allows CPAs to complete an individual course within 12 months of its subscription. For instance, if the CPA has taken a course as part of a subscription, the completion date is determined by the expiration date of his/her subscription. So, the CPA should have plenty of time to complete their CPE requirements.

MasterCPE.com is highly professional in its approaches and offers plenty of flexibility to CPAs. In case a CPA is unhappy with the website's products, he/she can contact the customer support department and the company will return the whole money back within 90 days of purchase. Their 90-day full money back guarantee gives them the competitive edge over other similar websites.
