The citizens of Washington DC must know the fact that to gain a driving license in the state, it is compulsory for them to pass the permit test. To pass the test it is necessary to know the format of the permit test as well as the types of questions that are frequently asked in the exam.

Permit Test

Permit test is an exam that checks the eligibility of an individual whether the applicant is liable to get the driving license or not. In the test various questions are asked that are related to traffic rules, road rules and regulations, highway marking and other related road signs, In order to clear the test, candidates have to correctly solve required numbers of questions as well as the practical part of the test. The candidate, who succeeds in clearing both part of the exam, is entitled to get the driving license. It is noticeable that the minimum age to apply for the test is 15 because at this age applicant can get the learner's license, whereas at the age of 21 the respective aspirant can have the mature license.

Purpose of organizing Permit Test

The main reason which led the state government to think about organizing driving test is the rapid increment in the numbers of accidents. The safety of the people on the road was supposed to be ruining. So, to develop the standards of driving and to secure the life of the people, permit test is introduced to measure the driving skills and knowledge of an individual, so that only deserving aspirant gets the license.

It has been noticed that very few candidates are able to pass the permit test, whereas most of the applicants do not succeed in doing so. The major reasons behind the failure of the permit test are as follows:

• Insufficient knowledge of the rules and regulations of road transport

• Least information about the structure of permit test

• Imperfect in driving the vehicle

In order to assist the people in clearing the test, practice permit test are introduced so that the applicant can avail the knowledge about the actual test by going through the questions of permit test. The questions of practice tests re available on various permit related sites and also the knowledge regarding the traffic rules and regulations are there on the official website of Washington DC department of road transport.
