Why Undertake PMP Training?

by Elissa Joyce

Article published on December 5th 2011 | Education

Your business would derive extra benefit when the clients are satisfied from your work. They give you the projects and the experts of your company start working on them. There are various steps in completing a project which is better known to a project professional.

When project training is imparted, results are bound to be positive. PMP training makes people handling the projects ready for the challenges that might crop up in the future. Constantly developing business atmosphere has paved way for greater confrontations and need of the hour is to solve it efficiently. A person or a business company, able to solve it effectively is the one which moves on and progresses rapidly.

Why Undertake PMP Training?

As aforementioned, business challenges are immense and there is no way out other than offering effective solution for it. When your employees are trained and have PMP (Project Management Professional) Certification, they would face no difficulty in adapting to changes in the business house. With this importance in mind, there are 2 ways of implementing project training programs- conduct training in your company or employ other company which has expertise in imparting training to project experts.

Which Certification to Choose from?

This training offers array of certifications which are especially based on the evolving professional needs. It would be better and you would derive more benefit, if you have complete knowledge about the certificates being offered. Some of the certificates given in this program are mentioned below in detail.

Project Management Certificate

This certificate concentrates on information technology and is given under continuing education program by ACC College, Texas, USA. Project Management Certificate involves 119 study hours and experience in IT project for 1 year. It trains students for PMP credential exam. This certification also plays an aid in fetching you a good job.

Bachelor's Degree with a Minor in Project Management

With an undergraduate minor degree in project management, a student is able to tackle project teams. It is for the architecture and engineering student who have completed 60 credit hours with an average of 3.0 grade point.

Masters in Project Management

Students, who are working, derive immense benefit from this especially designed certificate for them. Given by Universidad de Valladolid, it requires you to have 50 credit, out of which 12 needs to be from master thesis. It is basically for the jr. project managers and 3-7 years experienced professionals.

International Executive Master of Business Administration in Project Management

Imparted by FundaÃ§Ã£o Getulio Vargas (FGV), Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, students take it through traditional and online mode. It's online program is given in coordination with University of California, giving it international perspective.

Doctorate Degree Program

Doctorate degree in project, strategy and program management is given under the head of SKEMA Business School. Working professionals mainly take this 3 years degree and finish thesis in 8-1 2 semesters.

PMP Maryland Training Program

Are you a resident of Maryland? Maryland PMP training needs to be taken from an institute which is reputed and approved by PMI. You would not find it hard to search for PMP training classes here in Maryland because this state is abundant with IT practices and has lot of related presence. The courses are offered at affordable rates and industry professionals who are experienced, form the faculty here.

With the evolution in business needs and urgency to tackle growing business challenges, requirement of expert and trained project professionals who have abundant technical skills has increased. This is possible only with a PMP training certificate from a reputed institute. Make your employees PMP certified and see your business grow by leaps and bounds.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/education-articles/why-undertake-pmp-training.htm - Article Side

Elissa Joyce - About Author:
Project managers who have a PMP training certificate are capable enough to solve any problem and handle the changes in the business environment and the company. For more information, visit pmp-classes.com

Article Keywords:
PMP training, PMP certification training, Maryland PMP training, Virginia PMP training

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!