Amalgamate Your Love Theories on Valentine by Rahul

Article published on January 6th 2012 | Entertainment

Have you ever experience the true love in your life? According to the great poet William words worth, true love can be seen only in turtleâ€™s nest. But that does not mean that we the humans can never experience it. The turtleâ€™s nest is just a symbolization of true affection. An affection is a total surrender in front of the person whom we like heartly. There will not be any ego clashes. There will not be any selfish motives. There will not be any arguments. It is a total surrender to one another. That surrender is clearly visible in a turtleâ€™s nest. Most of us might have experienced this in our life. But we may not be able to find it at the right time. In the love poems for her he wrote.

â€œThrough the weeds of green and the tides of blue,

Let me take you to the horizon, where the sun sets.

There I give my love."

And, she wrote a lot of love poems for him. And finally, they got married.

This is a common romance story. You might have read it or seen on silver screen. But, the fate is totally different in our real lives. The concept of love is changing along with the overall changes happening in the world. When the life has become busy and more or less career oriented, nobody has time to spend for writing romantic poems or even romantic letters. Nowadays she is not writing any love poems for him and he is also not writing any love poems for her. But they are depending on several other methods to find out the strength of their love.

Some websites are offering love test meter to measure the strength of the love. When some sites are depending on the zodiac signs in this love tester to find out the strength of love between two individuals, some others are using numerology based on the names in their love test meter. Some other sites are offering interesting love match games too. These are really funny and interesting to play. But, the credibility of these love match games and love tester is yet to prove.

Love, as mentioned earlier, is an activity where the souls are involved. As our brain has no control over our souls, there is nothing to do with the thinking capacity of a person in love. That is why the old people used to say that love is blind. But this blindness is a pleasure. We are seeing the world, experiencing the world with the soul and of our loved one. This type of total surrender makes love a true one. A true love is nothing but simply loving without expecting in return. The three words â€œI Love Youâ€• should come out from your soul and not from your mouth. There is no need to tell those words even. If your love is a true one you can express those words even with a stare at her eyes or with a soft touch at the tip of her finger.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/entertainment-articles/amalgamate-your-love-theories-on-valentine.htm - Article Side

Rahul - About Author:
Enjoy a love match games something unique and special with latest and impressive ideas. Get ideas on a love poems for him, love tester and further things related to valentine. Know also about a love poems for her.

Article Keywords:
love match games,love poems for him,love poems for her

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!