Gone are the days where a kids party idea includes some party pies, pass the parcel and playing in the back yard. Now, the industry is highly competitive with some new, technically advanced concepts that our grand parents would never have dreamed of being possible in their youth. Most importantly, mums are looking for something with the 'wow factor' that's really easy to organise and stress free.

So, once you've decided on a themed party, where to from here? There's so many choices and who do you trust, and what's going to guarantee your child's party is the best kids party idea of the year?

Recently a new trend has occurred with all the music shows on TV. Kids have always loved music but now they're being engaged in it on a whole new level. Could 'Rock Stardom' get any closer.....umm, yes!

Rock Star for a Day is a portable recording studio that comes to your childs party and turns all your guests into CD recording 'Rock Stars' â€“ for a day. The kids get to record 2 of their favourite songs (after a practice), they pose in a photo shoot and your energetic party host produces a copy of the finished CD for each child to take home with them. Each CD has the best photo on the front cover from the photo shoot, the kids create a band name for the cover and the 2 songs are listed on the cover and the whole CD is presented in a stylish rock star design. Rock Star for a Day gives kids the brilliant confidence building 'Rock Star Experience' at the party and a memory of the day to keep forever â€“ their very own CD.

Best of all, Rock Star for a Day is not only a fantastic kids party ideas, but it's really easy to organise. To make the kids party even more 'Rock Star', simply tell the kids to dress up in their favourite Rock Star costume to give your party the edge. Your party host entertains the kids for about an hour, and then spends about half an hour making the CDs. After the kids have played a few party games, cut the cake and your child opens all of those wonderful presents, the whole event lasts for about 2 hours, a good length for a kids party.
