A large number of western men using Chinese dating website are often surprised by the seemingly unusual lifestyle of their Chinese girlfriends. A large majority of these oriental girls tend to have a traditional lifestyle and possess qualities that come from living in harmony with nature, co-existing in a peaceful manner and leading a simple life. They often exhibit a relaxed attitude towards life and its various problems which makes them quite interesting in the eyes of most of the overworked and over ambitious western men. Their ethics help them find satisfaction and happiness even in the most mundane things of everyday life.

The lifestyle of Chinese people is generally based on two important philosophies. The first of these is the harmony between humans and their natural environment and the second is harmony between people themselves. The importance of nature in the lives of Chinese people is evident in every aspect of their personality. Their preference for natural elements and materials in their everyday life as well as their love for the natural beauty and its various blessings is the biggest proof of the same. Even while using online Chinese dating websites, they prefer to date men who present themselves as what they are rather then masking their natural traits behind a faÃ§ade.

Another interesting aspect of the personality and lifestyle of Chinese people as evident on Chinese dating sites is their love for traditionalism. It is not unusual to find a modern Chinese woman having a successful career and independent life to have a deep rooted faith in the various ancient traditions and customs of her society. Maintaining harmony within the population of more than 1.2 billion people, belonging to diverse racial, social, cultural and economic background is no small feat. This has been made possible by the firm belief of the Chinese people in a peaceful and harmonious co-existence with fellow humans.
