Grooving Down Under: Bollywood Dances in Perth by Bollywood Dance Studio

Article published on December 3rd 2011 | Entertainment

Bollywood, (no matter how clichÃ© the name) or the Mumbai film industry is one of the largest commercial cinema industries in the world. But why is there demand for an Indian dance class in Perth, Australia? This is where the facts and figures of the industry will shock and surprise you! With the rising tide of Indian films heading abroad, and commercial cinema demanding â€˜foreignâ€™ faces and beautifully toned bodies; Australia is a new haunt for the Indian casting couches!

India is the biggest film making country in the world with well over 200 movies made every year. This brings in a huge amount of money, and involves a lot of employment at all levels. To add a touch of international flavor to their glam quotient, the industry often hires foreign beauties for roles as dance and scene extras. They are usually selected from countries like Australia, where there are beautiful women and handsome men to cast, but no big movie industry to hire them all. A dance class in Perth, However, can be an easy ticket to fame.

There is nothing special to a Bollywood dance. Perth is a city of active athletic young men and women who can easy groove to beats. This is the exact energy that such dance classes want to harness. They take the pulsing and energetic music of Indian cinema, add in the spicy choreography that is quintessential in anything Bollywood (yes, Hollywood falls short of spice in comparison!), and let the dancers free to move. Compared to classical ballet or waltz, this kind of dance should be like having a party and paving a way to some pretty nice paycheques. Just follow the beat, and know the ways which spices up the dance in tune to what the choreographer wants.

A dance class in Perth is easy to find, but not everyone will have the right resources and contacts to help you cross the road over to the industry. While you can easily find plenty of places to let loose and groove down under, not every place facilitates a career with such recreation, does it? This is why it is best for you to choose a place that specifically teaches you Bollywood dance. Perth, being one of the common cities of Australia for immigration and a influx point for Bollywood offices, it is the best way to land up before the casting couch and strut off your moves.
