There are no alternatives to these when it comes to celebrating special moments or occasions, be it personal events or commercial ones. By commercial, is meant, mostly the corporate affairs. For the corporate meetings, conferences and seminars, it is ideal to hire a large and spacious banquet hall which will be befitting for the occasion. The corporate and the people around them are usually very respectable and honorable people, and they want the best of settings and ambience whenever they come to meet to discuss or debate in a public place. One may be inclined to ask exactly what kind of interior decoration there will be inside these large halls or banquets.

In fact, these can be of two types. In the first type, the banquets may be furnished with plenty of furniture like sofa sets and other classy-looking furniture, generally made of wood or wrought iron to make them eye-catching. The latest fashion in vogue in the world of sophisticated furniture is to have furniture of this kind, some of which may be used just for decoration or for holding or keeping flower pots, aquariums etc. All of this must be there at the time of hiring the banquet, and not a single thing must have to be ordered from outside, except the food perhaps. Sometimes, even the food or catering services are provided by the same agency that offers the banquet halls on hire.

There should also be excellent lighting arrangements, with exquisitely styled lamp shades and hanging lanterns which add charisma of the interiors. The color of the walls should give an exotic feeling, however, it must also not be too bold or rude so as to appear unpleasant to the eye. Most importantly, the color, the furniture and just about everything in the interior decoration must be befitting to the occasion.
