Article Side
James Tenney Lawyer Has Written for Professional and Trade by Jeffrey Watts

Article published on January 6th 2012 | Ethics

James Tenney lawyer has helped numerous clients in simplifying their tax matters by providing them useful and insightful legal advice. He has written legal articles for various professional and trade publications. His articles have provided readers with a better understanding of complex legal and tax matters He has also conducted seminars and lectures on tax law at national, regional and local levels. Through his presentations, he informs and educates listeners about the complex tax laws that affect them and their way of living and how they can manage and reduce tax liabilities.

For over thirty years, Jim Tenney Atlanta has worked with a wide range of clientele, from international business corporations to entrepreneurs looking for legal advice. His advice has helped businesses in resolving their tax concerns and avoiding legal risks. His areas of expertise include tax planning, estate planning, asset protection, tax controversies, and mergers and acquisitions. He offers legal counseling to his clients so that they can simplify their legal consequences of their business transactions whether it is long or short term planning. His clients have been able to evaluate high risk areas of their personal and business affairs and strengthen areas exposed to unnecessary risks.

James Tenney lawyer studied at University of Michigan and received his undergraduate degree in finance from University of Tennessee. He has earned his Master of Law degree in taxation from Emory University. He is licensed to practice in Georgia and Tennessee. He is a Certified Public Accountant licensed in the State of Georgia. Jim Tenney Atlanta is a member of the American Bar Association, the International Bar Association, and the State Bar of Georgia, the Tennessee Bar Association, the American Association of Attorney-Certified Public Accountants, the ABA Section on Taxation and several of its national committees.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/ethics-articles/james-tenney-lawyer-has-written-for-professional-and-trade.htm - Article Side

Jeffrey Watts - About Author:
Jeffrey Watts is a professional writer and freelancer who love to write about various topics which attract his interest. He mainly spends his time on informative websites and actively participates in various Law and Taxation forums and other communities. Nowadays, he is busy researching and writing on law and taxation.

Article Keywords:
James Frederick Tenney, James Tenney Attorney, James Tenney Atlanta GA

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!