The Academy of Couture Art constantly hosts fashion shows where the students of the school have the opportunity to showcase the clothes that they learned to design at the school. When you go through the news about these shows you will find that some of the biggest names, not only in the fashion world, but otherwise too, attend these shows. Now why would any celebrity attend fashion shows organized by a fashion school? This is because of the name that the Academy of Couture Art has created for itself. The Academy of Couture Art is considered the finest fashion school in all of California and also among the best in the entire country. The Academy of Couture Art reviews bear testimony to this.

If you are looking for a career in fashion designing then you must have a strong base. This strong base can only be created when you study in a proper fashion design school. And when you think about the best fashion schools in the country, the Academy of Couture Art is one name to reckon. The Academy of Couture Art has been creating excellent young fashion designers term after term and the established fashion designers and garment schools wait to grab the graduates from this school. Read some of the Academy of Couture Art reviews by the past students of the school and you will find that they attribute much of their success to their school.

There are two ways the Academy of Couture Art creates a difference when it comes to teaching fashion. The first way is through their course in pattern design. Pattern design, in almost all the fashion schools, is taught together with fashion design. But the Academy of Couture Art is different. Its separate emphasis on pattern design means that the students can ably study body patterns to create garments that fit right the first time. This is a huge advantage of this school.

The other way the Academy of Couture Art creates a difference is through its life in the campus. The entire school has an atmosphere of a fashion studio where the students are given complete freedom to express their creativity. The teachers at the school then work with them to help them perfect their expression and create some of the best clothes for their customers.

And of course, that the students get to participate in fashion events organized by the Academy of Couture Art is another reason why they excel in their careers. These fashion shows are attended by critics and the students, before they even begin their career, come to know what critics like and dislike.

A combination of all these points makes the Academy of Couture Art the best place to learn fashion design. The Academy of Couture Art reviews say exactly this. The Academy of Couture Art reviews are written by students, fashion experts and critics and they mostly speak positive about it. This is what makes the Academy of Couture Art the perfect place to be to learn fashion and pattern designing.
