MBT stands for "Masai Barefoot Technology," and the shoes are designed to simulate walking in sand. It's a multi-layered, curved sole that accomplishes this by creating a natural but uneven walking surface. This technology is meant to make the core strengthening muscles more active, creating better posture and increasing shock absorption for all of the joints. It also makes wearing the MBT Shoes quite a unique experience, and a bit of a workout.

When purchasing your MBT shoes, make sure that you purchase a pair that have the correct fit. Make sure that your MBT's are tight on the heel, snug on the in-step and that they are comfortable around the toes. It is important that the heel is placed at the back of the foot bed prior to fitting the straps of the MBT.
