In most cases it is the bridesmaids who are responsible for paying for their own bridesmaid dresses. If you are a bridesmaid at numerous weddings this year, this can begin to become a costly honour. Unless you have tonnes of money this can lead to you turning down the privilege of becoming your friend's bridesmaid, but this doesn't have to be so.

Bridesmaid dresses have come along way in the past few years. They aren't all flowery and flouncy and decidedly over the top. Now the typical bridesmaid dress is elegant and glamorous and in general can be worn on more than one occasion.

The French work out how much to spend on a piece of clothing based on the number of wears they will get from it. So for a pair of jeans that you wear pretty much everyday you can pay a few hundred pounds. However for a dress you'll only use once you don't want to spend more than Â£50. Finding a bridesmaid dress for Â£50 or less is virtually impossible. But, if you can use the dress more than once, you are willing to pay more for it.

So, here are three of the most versatile designs of Coast bridesmaid dresses that should tick a whole variety of boxes.

The Symphony Dress comes in both long and short styles, however you'll get a great deal more wear out of the shorter, knee-length style. This strapless dress is ultra sexy and chic; it has a ruched bodice, asymmetric drape detailing and a loose and light chiffon skirt. It comes in several colours but navy, violet and a deep, forest green are the most adaptable shades. Work in accessories to alter the look and feel of this beautiful Coast bridesmaid dress.

The Bethan Dress is one of Coast's chicest looking bridesmaid dresses UK. It is a bandeau dress with lace detailing on the bust and enclosed boning. It is a-line in design although it includes an empire-line belt to flatter your figure and emphasise curves and it boasts a stylish layered chiffon skirt. The deep mulberry colour is gorgeous as well.

Our final pick of Coast beautiful bridesmaid dresses is the Melody Twist Dress. This above the knee style boasts a trendy twist front to add detail and shape. It also emphasises the waist and bust but flows over the hips and thighs. It is incredibly flattering and elegant.
