We all look up to celebrities. In fact, weâ€™d buy magazines and check out celebrity blogs just to know more about our favorite Hollywood star. One of the most commonly asked-about information about our favorite actors and actresses is their favorite choice of sunglasses. As stars, they wear sunglasses most of the time not only to protect their eyes from the harmful UV radiation but also to conceal their identity and to shoo paparazzi. And what are the most common sunglasses brands worn by our favorite celebrities? Hereâ€™s a quick recap.

Chanel. Chanel is the top pick of actresses who love to look fashionable and stylish everywhere they go. One can never go wrong with a Chanel, especially when youâ€™re feeling girly and want to wear your favorite dress. Socialites like Paris Hilton, singers like Rihanna, and women who want to look classy forever such as Meryl Streep love Chanel sunglasses.

Ray-Ban. Ray-Ban sunglasses first became popular when it was made as the official sunglasses brand by the US army. Nowadays, itâ€™s the go-to brand among celebrities and individuals who want a combination of function and style. Ray-ban sunglasses are not very feminine but they exude an impression of fierceness, which is why these sunglasses are commonly associated with rock stars. Some of the famous celebrities who love Ray-Ban include Angelina Jolie and Lindsay Lohan. Ray-Ban is associated with being a masculine brand. When General Douglas Mc Arthur wore the Ray-Ban aviator to one of the most important milestones in American history, the brand was seen as something â€œmanlyâ€• and â€œstrong.â€•

Prada. Prada has the same market as Chanelâ€™s. Itâ€™s the choice of women who want to look classy and fashionable all the time. The good thing about Prada designs is that you donâ€™t always have to pair them with your dresses. You, too, can wear your favorite Prada sunglasses with your favorite jeans and shirts. No wonder why Mariah Carey, Katy Perry, and Kim Kardashian love their Prada sunnies. Designer shades are accessories that every star lives in. Celebrities are often seen and photographed outdoors even without handbags or jewellery and not even dolled up but seldom are they without sunglasses.

Sunglasses protect your eyes from the harmful rays of the sun. Which is why it is very important that you always pack at least one with you along with your bikinis and sunblock. Today, there are a wide range of sunglasses to choose from and for sure, there's one that will best fit your style and budget.

So, do you want to look like your favorite celebrities? Take your pick from any of the sunglass brands mentioned above.
