When we talk about fashion, many people still remains quiet when anyone wants some clues to tie a scarf. Normally, there is not any hard and fast rule to tie or wrap a shawl. The best thing about this is you can tie it according to your wish and also you are free to style it according to our outfit and mood. If you think you are looking good, then be sure that you have tied it in right way. The important thing is that you should like what you are seeing. Here are some ways which will help you to know different and unique styles to wrap a scarf.

Belt Style â€“ A small scarf to tie around your neck in belt style is the best way which we usually use. It provides an awesome finish to our outfit, no matter whether you have wore a loose jeans or skirt, especially when the colors of our dress and scarf complement to each other. To tie the scarf in a belt style you need to fold the stole and insert it into each loop and make sure that no loop should left blank. Also donâ€™t forget to tie both the ends together either in sides or in front and let the remaining length for fashion.

Sarong Style â€“ The unique way to tie the scarf is Sarong style. You can wrap your scarf on your waist in a skirt style which is also known as modern sarong skirt. To tie sarong style scarf you need to fold your scarf diagonally and then wrap it around your waist and tie the triangular end at one side and leave the length along with your legs which will give you fashionable look.

Shoulder Wrap Style â€“ For the different and stunning look you can also wrap your shawl in shoulder wrap style. This style very much suits on sleeveless and low cut top dresses. To tie this style you need to fold the scarf in triangular shape and after folding keep the ends on the shoulders and tie them on front with the help of scarf pin or broach.

Halter Blouse Style â€“ Wrapping a scarf inside your coat or jacket gives you corporate attire also reveals your feminine attitude. The scarf looks good and suits you if it will be in silk stuff.

Adding fashion scarves to your outfit will give you and your personality a stunning, elegant and adorable look.
