Article published on August 19th 2012 | Finance

BPH have created an excellent track record for being an investment company that offers innovative financial solutions for both corporate and private clients. BP Holdings is aware that having the right information is a key point when giving advisory services to clients. And in order to please our clients, we provide customized service made specifically to suit their financial requirements, coupled with years of experience.

At BP Holdings, our mission is to be a prominent leader in the financial services sector worldwide and to maintain the excellent results we achieve for all our clients. We go the extra mile in ensuring the highest possible standards in ethics and integrity in all our financial approach.

Our Team of Financial Experts

For the past eight years, BP Holdings has created a team of highly-experienced, dynamic professionals in all categories of financial services through an extensive network of consultants, specialists and in-house employees. Our team of specialists work closely with clients in assisting them to reach their financial objectives. We clearly has a clear advantage in having a great level of intellectual resources that can effectively handle portfolio management and market research, among others. Such wide range of financial expertise is being tapped in all our advisory and investment moves.

BPH is a market leader when it comes to investment strategies and we strive hard to ensure that our investment decisions and advice are all based on concrete investment theories. We also recognize the need in having the right instruments in the modern age as unexpected trends and changes in the market can significantly affect any investment. That is why our talent pool and professional expertise are always updated to the most recent financial information. BPH also utilizes sophisticated programs to aid in making investment decisions.

Raising Capital

BP Holdings understands a company's need for more working capital for its growth but it also knows that the process of raising capital is a difficult one. New businesses tend to have the technical expertise in their field but are lacking in investment experience -- this is where we comes in. We can aid in securing sufficient funding for your company by putting the necessary structures with the aid of our global partners.

Private Equity

Through the years, BP Holdings has built solid connections with private equity investors by demonstrating our ability to see potential in companies. Because of this, we have earned their trust and have a good reputation when putting forward investments to them.

Deals are formed by experts in our legal team and each deal is specifically tailored to a certain investment to ensure the correct level of growth.

Business Valuation

BP Holding's team of consultants are ready to help your business if you are looking at merging or acquiring a company. In valuing a business, we utilize an objective system that shows its market value accurately. We also strive to explore aspects of the business that might or might not be of any value to our client.

BP Holdings has all the right experts highly-trained in handling Mergers and Acquisitions deals and putting the correct legal framework needed.

Due Diligence

It is highly essential to conduct a thorough due diligence before any deal is made with any party.

BP Holdings looks at the firm's structure and at its operations, making sure that everything is within legal regulations. We also strive to learn of their philosophies and policies in business and check if they have demonstrated these in reality.

One of the crucial aspects we check is the quality of the management team -- a good track record from its board members -- as it usually tells us if the firm will be led to the completion of its strategies and eventual success.

BPH's team will assess the firm's books and give a comprehensive overview on its assets and true value. Our consultants know the significance of collecting all pertinent details about the firm when conducting due diligence.

More importantly, by conducting a comprehensive due diligence, we could minimize any possible trauma in an investment.

Strategic Corporate Consulting

Right strategies put in place are important to secure businesses from unexpected market trends and protect its cash flow. BP Holdings's consultants will form a financial plan that has different strategies and are tailored to make the business more resilient.

BPH can also help in smoothing out complications as they arise as well as in marketing operations. We are involved in long-term consultations to ensure accurate decisions and accomplishment of targets.

BPH's policy is to ensure that we can expect a return on investment from any investment strategy in a firm.
