Tax Debt Help â€“ Steps the IRS has taken to Help Taxpayers by

Jacob Smith

Article published on April 17th 2012 | Finance

If you earn more than $50, 000 a year an need tax debt help, the IRS Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) as well as the Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) programs may be able to help you. A lot of people may not be able to handle taxes on their own and it is not a problem at all with all the assistance that is available today.

How VITA helps IRs tax debts

The VITA or the IRS Volunteer Income Tax Assistance has been designed to help people prepare their own tax returns if they earn $50, 000 or more or even less. This program provides preparation for basic income tax returns absolutely free of cost to individuals belonging to the local communities. You may get information about particular tax credits like the Earned Income Tax Credit or the Child Tax Credit or even the Credit for the Elderly or the Disabled. Look for a VITA site at your community center in order to get IRS debt help. You may also find them at libraries, shopping malls or other places. Usually there is also the facility for filing your returns electronically for free.

How TCE helps IRS tax debts

For those of you who are over 60 years of age and are looking for tax debt relief the TCE or the Tax Counseling for the Elderly may be helpful as it is designed to provide assistance. You may get information about pensions as well as retirements that may be associated with the elderly. Retired individuals are appointed by the IRS to provide counseling to individuals seeking relief.

The IRS has gone extra steps to help individuals with their tax returns and also in providing relief with their tax debts. They have started providing facilitated assistance and have launched this program only in particular locations yet. In case you do not have access to a computer and still need IRS debt help, you may easily visit these facilitated assistance centers and talk to a certified volunteer to help you get through the process.

To be able to receive relief assistance from the VITA or the TCE programs you may be required to provide the IRS with documents. With the documents in place they should not have a problem in helping you file your own tax returns and getting through the process with ease. Some of the documents that you may be required to produce in order to receive help with your tax debt relief are:

â€¢ Picture identity proof

â€¢ Your social security cards as well as that of your spouseâ€™s or any other dependents that you may have â€¢ Your Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN) as well as your spouseâ€™s and other dependentsâ€™ â€¢ A proof of any foreign status in case you want to apply for your ITIN

â€¢ Dividend as well as interest statements from your bank

To be able to receive proper help with your IRS tax debts, you must provide the correct information especially your social security number. In case you do not have the documents required make arrangements for them.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/finance-articles/tax-debt-help-steps-the-irs-has-taken-to-help-taxpayers.htm - Article Side

Jacob Smith - About Author:
Jacob Smith is a contributing writer for New Life Tax Relief on a tax debt help , a IRS debt help and a senior debt analyst. He writes mostly on a tax debt relief, IRS debt relief.

Article Keywords:
tax debt help, IRS debt help, tax debt relief, IRS tax debts, tax debt

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!