Who doesnâ€™t want to stay young, but aging is a process that cannot be stopped. Neither can be reversed but it can be fixed with face lifts. Itâ€™s a process of reducing the signs of aging from face and neck giving the face more youthful appearance. It is one of the most common and popular and widely performed procedures.

A Face lift illuminates fine lines and wrinkles. It can remove the sagging in the mid face, deep creases along the nose and lower eyelid. It also helps tone the jaw, loose skin and excess fat deposit and it illuminates double chin. As per the procedure an incision is made and then that skin is separated from the deeper tissue and later on the skin is redraped and closed.

Face lift is usually a surgical procedure. Now there are certain non surgical options like laser treatment and creams which are temporary solutions. When it comes to the surgery there are many dermatologists who can perform facelift. They will run a few tests and will explain the process in detail which will include the pros and cons of the surgery.

After the surgery is done you cannot expect to wake up pretty. In fact the reality is opposite there will be some swelling and scars and it might hurt a bit but the doctor will give you proper medication. You can be up and going in two to three days. When it comes to getting the surgery any fit person can get it done. When it comes to the results you cannot expect a miracle to happen. The doctors will show you the before and after computerized images before the surgery itself. As for the price that depends upon the surgeon and the type of lift you want to get but It can cost somewhere between Â£3500- Â£10,000.
