Cripple Your Enemies with This Guild Wars 2 Elementalist Attunement Build by Shannon A. Davis

Article published on July 18th 2012 | Games

One of the ways that the Guild Wars 2 Elementalist differs from other classes in in the ability to attune the different elements with unique skills. The four elements in question are Fire Magic, Air Magic, Earth Magic and Water Magic. With help of http://www.guildwars2elementalist.net/, you can quickly figure out the best way to build your character with the right attunement settings.

Focusing on Crit

If you want to place a heavy focus on crit, then consider this Guild Wars 2 Elementalist guide toward your build. For fire magic, put on Flame Barrier, which increases the chance of burning your foe in melee combat by 20 percent, and Burning Precision, which further increases the chance of burning your foe by 20 percent but on critical attacks.

For air magic, put on Zephyr's Speed to move 10 percent faster attuned to air, Bolt to the Heart to increase damage by 20 percent when the foe's below 25 percent health, Electric Discharge to strike a foe with lightning when attuned to air, Weak Spot for a 60 percent chance to be invulnerable after crits and Zephyr's Boon to grant Fury and Swiftness.

Healing Plus Damage

If you want to place a primary focus on healing but stack heavy might to deal high damage, try this build from http://www.guildwars2guide.net/. For fire magic, use Flame Barrier, Internal Fire to deal 10 percent more damage when fire-attuned, Sunspot to inflict damage on your area when fire-attuned, Pyromancer's Alacrity to recharge fire weapons 20 percent faster, Burning Rage to deal 5 percent damage to burned foes and Pyromancer's Puissance to add might whenever you cast a fire spell.

For air magic, use Zephyr's speed, Quick Glyphs to speed glyph recharge by 20 percent, Electric Discharge, and then Inscription to grant boons after casting glyphs. For water magic, use Soothing Mist to regenerate your health when you are attuned to water magic, and then use Cleansing Water to remove a condition whenever you heal an ally or yourself.

As you can see, there are many different avenues to take with your Guild Wars 2 Elementalist(http://www.guildwars2elementalist.net/category/elementalist-guide/).
