Though the company announced to release this version of operating system in 22nd July, 2005, but finally this was released at 30th January, 2007. After this date this version of OS is spread all over the world. In spite of having may other OS in the market as like Linux, Ubuntu, Windows XP, Windows 7 etc. Vista operating system is also a popular system across the globe for its exclusive features.

The vista operating system can be used personally or professionally. You can use vista operating system in your home or your office without any complexity. There have several changes and updated features in this system. Windows DVD Maker, updated graphical user, redesigned search option, visual style, various multimedia tools, high resolution display, HD sound and video system etc are the features of vista. The increased levels of communication among various computers are also added to vista operating system. By using the "home network" option you can easily share and transfer files, pictures, movies or other devices. Windows APIs is the traditional version of software development application which is removed in vista operating system and replaced by the NET Framework version 3.0 and by using this many functions of software development become easy for the developers.

The primary intention to create Windows Vista of Microsoft Corporation was to give more security to the users. The prior version Windows XP was criticized for its security reason. For that reason the chairman of Microsoft Corporation Bill Gates declared to make more secured version of operating system in the early 2002. In accordance of the declaration of the chairman security in the every aspect of software was established. After a long period of time Microsoft was successful of creating more secured version of Windows XP and this version named Vista Operating System. For the security reason the completion of vista takes more time.

Though the vista operating system earns more praise from the users for its exclusive features and strong security but is has criticized for some reasons. Many people give highly positive review about vista with the same time some people give negative reviews for some restrictions. They found that this system needs high configuration of PC, higher limiting licensing terms, the previous hardware and software are not compatible with this version, restriction of the reproduction of confined digital media, quantity of agreement quick for UAC(User Control Account). For the consequences of these negative impacts windows vista operating system cannot reach the popularity of the Windows XP operating system. However, many people at the present time using windows vista with other systems for it various positive characters.
