If you suffer from vision imperfections, then you must do everything to protect your eyes from harmful external elements. However, nobody wants to look like a geek flaunting a pair of glasses all the time. For them, contact lenses are definitely one of the major options worth considering. But lenses are not meant for use by anybody and everybody. If your condition is not found suitable enough, the doctor might never recommend you to wear lenses. Wondering how to get rid of those glasses then? Well do you actually need them to get them removed? The market today is packed with top-of-the line designer and sleek prescription glasses for people to choose from. If you take a look around, you will find that stylish Prescription glasses have caught the rage. Even your favorite matinee idols who are not as unlucky as you when it comes to vision and eyesight, are more often than not found making public appearances with designer glasses stylishly covering their eyes. So what are the latest trends in the world of prescription glasses? Read on to know more.

Retro style is back in action. From clothes to Designer glasses, vintage appeal has created a new rage. The geeky look flaunted by Dexter as he went performing weird scientific experiments is the latest trend. Itâ€™s not all about fashion as you might think it to be. Retro styled glasses have several health benefits as well. Being large, they protect your eyes from the harsh rays of the sun.

Aviator sunglasses have once again become the favorite among the fashion conscious and the not-so-fashion-conscious crowd alike. The best part about aviator glasses is that they combine style and classiness in the most attractive package imaginable. And if you thought aviator glasses scream of masculinity, you are anything but right. Contemporary fashionistas never think twice before investing a fortune on the sleek aviator glasses. Still waiting to get rid of that geek look, are you?
