Fat. It's a word that many women are extremely fearful of, particularly when the word is used in conjunction with their own bodies. Body image experts explain that over the last one hundred years it has become fashionable for women to aspire to an extremely slender body shape with twig like limbs and only very gently curving hips and waist. This is a considerable shift away from body shapes which were considered ideal for women in past centuries, when the perfect woman was curvaceous and paintings and sculptures show us that a little excess flesh on a woman was not considered grotesque, as it is now, but a sign of health, vitality and fertility.

One only has to look at paintings of the goddess Venus, supposedly the epitome of feminine beauty to see that she was curvaceous with thighs considerably larger than her calves and curving hips, she even has a slight roll of belly fat, which is completely unacceptable in today's society. When Glamour magazine published a photo of a blonde plus sized model with a slight roll of belly fat everyone was up in arms, as through this were a grotesque sight, when in reality, we know that it's perfectly natural.

Women's modern obsession with fat, or rather ensuring that they are virtually completely lacking it is a very modern one and it has spawned an entire diet, health, surgery and exercise industry to try and help us emulate supermodels and super slim celebs. Unsurprisingly, women are always looking for treatments which work, and now smartlipo is one of the most talked about fat busting treatments. Smartlipo is an almost non-invasive treatment and smartlipo uses exciting technology to laser away excess fat, and there are whispers that smartlipo can give women the perfectly flat abs they dream of. Unlike tummy tucks or liposuction, smartlipo leaves no scarring, this is one of the things which has made smartlipo such a sought after treatment.

Smart lipo has been available on Harley Street since 2006 and smartlipo clinics on Harley Street in London say that demand for the procedure has grown steadily as women flock to Harley Street in London for smart lipo procedures. Smart lipo clinics on Harley Street are now able to offer the smartlipo triplex system, which follows the smartlipo MPX system. The smartlipo MPX was more powerful than the first smart lipo machine on Harley Street, but the smartlipo triplex is more powerful still. The smartlipo triplex machine has taken smartlipo to a whole new level and is even better than the smartlipo MPX machine. Smart lipo using the smartlipo triplex system is available in some of the country's best clinics on Harley Street.
