Life is about making choices.Making informed choices is what brings you success.In fertility treatment, success is your happiness. Informed choice here leads to your happiness.

So lets know today all you need to know about gay same sex surrogacy.

Children are integral part of any ones family life and today there are many options available to have them for people who got fertility issues and people who are gay. There is still not much acceptance in many parts of the world for Gay couple and in such situations gay surrogacy seems to be very feasible solution. Until some years ago it was next to impossible for gay couple to even think of having a kid a part of their life, adoption is always an open option but there also many complexities are present.

Adoption of kid by gay couple is another controversial issue where in most of the time the laws and social activists come between. There are concerns raised in many parts of the world about child upbringing and in the atmosphere he/ she will leave in. Moreover with adoption gay couple has to choose over one kid over other and they miss the beautiful journey of motherhood till nine months.

Same sex parenting is a delicate issue, which,if not properly addressed can turn into a nightmare, especially for same-sex couples.One of the main reasons for this is, there are not enough alternatives for treatment. Most countries either require an opposite-sex marriage or they simply refuse to treat same-sex couples, even if they are married.

Ready to start a family? Along with adoption and fostering, surrogacy is a way gay, lesbian, and same-sex couples can expand their families.

Surrogacy by In-vitro fertilization (IVF) offers couples the chance to have a biological child.

With gay surrogacy the process is completely biological as the surrogate mother carries the child of one of the gay parent in her womb for nine months. With this gay couple feels the real attachment in the birth process of child and the joy they will get is incomparable with adoption.

Gestational surrogacy is where the egg is removed from the surrogate mother, fertilized by one of the gay couple or a donor, and then implanted into the intended mother.

Egg Donors Some couples solicit egg donors (from family, friends or anonymously) and then find a surrogate to carry the embryo. Others arrange for the surrogate to donate the eggs as well. In Massachusetts, the donor and surrogate must be two different women.

In many countries there are laws against gay adoption and society also is not very kind for the concept of gay couple adopting a child. So in such scenario gay couples are left with option of surrogacy only. Gay surrogacy is also more preferable solution because in this process the couple can choose the surrogate mother and knows everything about the mother.

In case of adoption the gay couple has no or very little knowledge about the childs background. For gay couple surrogacy is better option also because the child id biologically heir and this is the biggest advantage.

Not a single rule in any part of the world can separate a child from his/her biological parent. Today surrogacy for gay couple is becoming very popular for all the mentioned aspects here. Surrogacy for Gay couple is although becoming popular but it is bit expensive procedure in US UK and Australia but in India this is comparatively feasible procedure and quite cheap as well.

So when gay surrogacy is possible gay couple now rejoice that they can also have the happiness of a kid in their life and with some simple considerations like choosing a country and surrogate mother for surrogacy this option is very much convenient.

The journey to create your Gay family with the help of Third Party Reproduction involves a considerable financial and emotional investment on your part.

We have helped no of couples including [LGBT]lesbian and gay couples and even single men and single women to fulfill their dream of enjoying parenthood.

But while the Indian Surrogacy service is making dreams come true for some American,Australian,Europeans couples and singles, employing foreign surrogates is not without controversy, and is being dubbed â€œrent-a-wombâ€• and an outsourcing of pregnancy by some critics.Bu for people using the services feels.â€•This surrogate is like a God to them because without her they would never had had their child.â€•
