Citizens in Ireland are happy with the considerable fall in asthma death cases in 2010. Thanks to Asthma Society of Ireland for their extensive support and campaign across every corner to bring about a fruitful solution towards reduction of asthma.

Just a few months back this year, CSO released the health statistics to surprise everybody. Only 34 asthma deaths have been reported in 2010 compared to an average of 55 per year. The news surely has brought smiles to the health officials but it also suggests that a lot of extra effort is required to further escalate the drop percentage.

Ireland is most vulnerable to asthma after Australia, New Zealand and the UK. The campaign undertaken by Asthma Society of Ireland has helped raise awareness among the people considerably. Considering the fact that nearly 470,000 people in Ireland suffer from asthma, reduction of 40 percent in number of asthma deaths is surely a no mean feat. The health officials and health providers have extended considerable assistance towards making the asthma campaign a success.

Asthma Society believes in incessant hard work to educate more people and offer guidelines towards the purpose of reducing ailments such as hay fever, rhinitis, eczema and undoubtedly asthma. All these types of allergies require proper treatment and precaution to ensure a healthy and allergy free life for people living in Ireland.

The rise in demand for different allergy relief products establishes the fact that people have become significantly aware of the consequences of asthma to take proper measures. So now we have the masks, allergy spray, bed covers, pillow covers, duvet covers available to get rid of the pollens and allergens.

Victims are advised to stay indoors during the spring because pollens might revert back the asthma problems. Doctors prescribe the allergy spray and proper encasement mattress cover to protect the house from the deadly mites and allergens.

Online video campaigns, leaflets, road shows, providing guidelines to victims “Asthma Society”’s tireless efforts have resulted in positive outcomes. Treatment and medicines needs to be provided to every corner of the country to reduce the frequency of asthma attacks.

Children suffer from asthma the most, compared to adults. The figures have kept the health officials busy attending huge number of children suffering from asthma. Asthma Society provides free of cost training for schools.
