Breast Enhancement: How to Choose the Perfect Implants by Jack Sebastian

Article published on June 8th 2012 | Health

In the U.S., the number one cosmetic surgery that women opt for is breast surgery. About 300,000 patients go through breast augmentation yearly, as stated by the American Society of Plastic Surgery. Patients of cosmetic surgery centers frequently experience an improvement in their self-confidence and a positive change on their outlook in life.

If you are living in San Francisco and youâ€™re preparing to go through a breast augmentation surgery, there are several plastic surgery centers and hospitals you can select from. Once you see the cosmetic surgeon and institution you prefer, conduct a great deal of research before having an in-depth conversation with your doctor. The breast implants, for instance, are an essential part of breast enhancement. Here are some tips on how to choose the right implants for you:

Figure out what â€œlookâ€• you want. Before you decided to opt for breast surgery, it is likely you envisioned that image in your head on how your enhanced breasts will look like. Regardless if you want it to become like a swimsuit modelâ€™s bosom in magazines or merely shapely enough to appear younger, you need to be sure that itâ€™s the look you want to live with for a long time. You would not want to spend a whole lot for revisions and risk lying on the operating table many times.

Carry out the Rice Test. Some surgeons for breast augmentation Bay Area ladies talk to regarding implant sizes recommend performing the Rice Test. Because implant volume is measured in â€œccâ€• (cubic centimeters), the Rice Test allows you to approximate how you will appear and feel with several implant sizes by placing rice bags inside the bra. For every cup size that you would like to add to your bust line, you should use about 150cc to 200cc of rice.

Utilize sizing systems. When you've got extra budget for breast augmentation San Francisco private centers offer, you can ask for breast sizers that are less uncomfortable compared with rice bags but cost much more. These sizing systems are connected to your bra with special straps and fabric tape to ensure that the simulated breast implants are in place. In contrast to rice bags, you can wear them under your garments during the day and experience the breasts you want prior to the surgery.

Speak with your cosmetic surgeon. Specialists in breast enhancement San Francisco patients rely on are open to answering queries. Donâ€™t hesitate to state your objectives. Your surgeon will give expert assistance if what you need is possible or about ways to get close to your ideal breasts.
