The idea for Epicuren Discovery was formed over 25 years ago. Robert Heiman, an Agricultural Engineer and developmental scientist, followed numerous studies performed by top pharmaceutical and cosmetic chemists. One particular study, conducted by Dr. Abraham Minton, Ph.D., and Dr. James Baker, Ph.D., at the Houston Burn Center, caught his eye. In this study, severely scarred burn victims were misted with a special protein solution and, ultimately, a positive effect was observed.

Why not apply this same concept on healthy skin to minimize the trauma of agin? Thus, the Metadermabolic Enzyme concept was developed. Partnering up with partner Colleen Lohrman, Mr. Heiman created Epicuren Discovery with a dedication to wellness and the human spirit.

The skincare industry has grown into a multi-billion dollar industry. Contrary to the mainstream approach, EpicurenÂ®, its concepts, and personal touch still remain unique. Through every experience, you will notice our unconventional approach and tendency to pave a different path; taking the road less traveled.

Epicuren continues with a cutting edge approach through the creation of new products and professional treatments by the combined efforts of its formulators and industry experts. The Epicuren Enzyme Skin Care System is now used by cosmetic surgeons, dermatologists, exclusive resorts, and highly skilled licensed aestheticians around the world is support of ageless beauty and natural well being.

Epicurenâ€™s core priorities remain constant: customer experience, wellness, environmental awareness, and evolution.

Epicurenâ€™s enzyme protein complex, referred to as the Metadermabolic Enzyme, is the heart of the Epicuren line. This enzyme is a protein that is combined with a waterborne solution of B Vitamins to create a â€œprotein with intelligence.â€• The Metadermabolic Enzyme encourages the skin to self-rejuvenate, similarly to how aerobic exercise supports your metabolism. Your largest organ, the skin, is replenished, receiving antioxidants and moisture, naturally resulting in a more youthful, vibrant appearing skin.

Developed to address every face and body need, Epicurenâ€™s all-encompassing product line provides valuable versatility to benefit all ages and skin types; truly allowing for the ultimate in customization.
