

Article published on December 1st 2011 | Health

Skin tags are benign skin growth that is very common for most of the people. Usually the reason why people want to remove a skin tag is because of aesthetic reasons.

The biggest concern for those who are concerned about skin tag removal is how to remove a skin tag without leaving scarring? Fortunately there are many good options available today.

Below are the most popular options how to remove a skin tag at the doctor's office:

Remove a skin tag with electro cauterization. The procedure is rather simple. The medical practitioner or in some cases the nurse will apply a very hot needle that is heated with electrical current on the skin tag. Once the cells of the skin tag are burned, the doctor removes the remains of the dry and burned skin cells. In some cases, if there are some unusual skin tag growths, the cells are sent to the laboratory for further examination.

The major advantage of this method is the speed. It is a very quick procedure. It takes just a few minutes to burn the skin tag using electro cauterization method. The major disadvantages are the possibilities of scarring, as well as healing period may take at least a week, but usually up to several weeks.

Compared to electro cauterization, laser skin tag removal is much better method in terms of the risk of scarring. With this skin tag removal method the doctor applies a targeted laser beam to the skin tag causing it to dry up. It takes just minutes to remove dead cells of the burned skin tag. Laser skin tag removal is one of the best options for those who are concerned about scarring. The precision of the laser targets only necessary cells and leave surrounding skin untouched. In this way only a tiny dot of the spot where the skin tag was present is cleared and it takes just few days for skin to heal leaving very little if any scarring. Apart from many advantages of the skin tag laser removal, the biggest drawback of this method is the price. It may cost at least one hundred dollars to remove just one skin tag with laser. For those who have many skin tags, the total cost can be quite high. In addition, most insurance plans will not cover the removal of skin tags.

Freezing method to remove skin tags is somehow lesser used method, because of its wider application for wart removal. However, freezing skin tags with liquid nitrogen is sometimes used also for skin tags. This is not expensive and is quick procedure. Medical practitioner applies or injects liquid nitrogen to the skin tag destroying the cells. Once the cells are destroyed, the skin tag can be removed by scratching off its remains. Similar to the electro cauterization, freezing method has the higher risk of scarring to occur.

When considering all medical options how to remove a skin tag, many come to conclusion that there should be good home based alternatives to the skin tag removal. Indeed there are quite a number of home based solutions, like applying special substance or cream, such as Dermatend, or using home based methods, like dental floss or apple cider vinegar to remove a skin tag.

Whichever method you chose, make sure you evaluate all pros and cons of every method to find the one that is most suitable for your needs and budget.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/health-articles/how-to-remove-a-skin-tag-at-the-doctor-s-office.htm> - Article Side

Carina Coronel - About Author:

Next, visit a how to remove a skin tag site to learn more about easy and affordable skin tag removal at home. For those who are looking for really quick and easy solution at home and do not want to spend weeks dealing with home remedies, find out a does Dermatend work and a where to buy Dermatend to get rid of skin tags once and for all.

Article Keywords:

how to remove a skin tag, does Dermatend work, where to buy Dermatend

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!